their life stories told here in full for the first time embody the changes of the first four decades of the twentieth century and complicate what we know of the period through these women's intertwined stories. Mary Trigg traces the changing nature of the women's movement across turbulent decades rent by world war, revolution, global depression, and the rise of fascism, criticizing the standard division of feminist activism as a series of historical waves. Trigg exposes how Irwin Beard Stevens and Pruette helped push the U.S. feminist movement to victory and continued to propel it forward from the 1920s to the 1960s, decades not included in the wave model at a time widely viewed as the doldrums of feminism. The women in this book were in fact taking the cause to new sites: the national women's party, sexuality and relations with men, marriage and work, and financial independence in their utopian efforts to reshape work, sexual relations, and marriage. Modern feminists ran headlong into the harsh realities of male power, the sexual double standard, the demands of motherhood, and gendered social structures in feminism as life's work. Irwin Beard Stevens and Pruette emerge as the heirs of the suffrage movement, guardians of a long feminist tradition, and catalysts of the belief in equality and difference. Theirs is a story of courage, application, and perseverance, a story that revisits the bleak and lonely years of the U.S. women's movement and emerges with a fresh perspective of the history of this pivotal era.

A must read for new teachers and seasoned practitioners, this unique book presents Sonia Nieto and Alicia López, mother and daughter, writing about the trajectories, vision, and values that brought them to teaching, including the ups and downs they have experienced and the reasons why they have stubbornly remained in one of the oldest, most difficult, and most rewarding of professions. Drawing on their extensive experience as educators in school and university classrooms, they reflect on what it means to teach young people, prospective teachers, and future academics in our complex, dynamic, and multicultural society. Teaching a life's work is at once theoretical and practical, reflective and critical, personal, professional, and political. Nieto and López document their reasons for becoming teachers and share some of the most important lessons they have learned along the way, using journals, blogs, current writings, and their research. They explore how their views on curriculum, pedagogy, and the field of education itself have evolved over the years. Riveting and beautiful, this book offers a full basket of wisdom wrapped up in personal stories of learning to teach. Christine Sleeter, California State University, Monterey Bay; Nieto and López give us the gift of two lifetimes of loving commitment to teaching children and changing the world. Wayne Au, University of Washington; Bothell, a genuine rarity. This dialog allows us insight into the differences and similarities across generations in teacher education, curriculum, and classroom practices. David C. Berliner, Arizona State University.
