the african american slave narrative is popularly viewed as the story of a lone male s flight from slavery to freedom best exemplified by the narrative of the life of frederick douglass an american slave 1845 on the other hand critics have also given much attention to harriet jacobs s incidents in the life of a slave girl 1861 to indicate how the form could have been different if more women had written in it but in stressing the narratives of douglass and jacobs as models for the genre scholars have ignored the formal and thematic importance of marriage and family in the slave narrative since neither author explores slave marriage in their works this book examines the central role of marriage in the life and adventures of henry bibb an american slave 1849 and running a thousand miles for freedom or the escape of william and ellen craft from slavery 1860 bibb s slave wife and child account for significant innovations in the form and content of his narrative while the crafts mutual dependence as a married couple results in a sustained use of dramatic irony the volume closes by offering a thoughtful consideration of the influence of bibb and the crafts on the later fiction of douglass william wells brown and martin delany in doing so it invites a critical reexamination of current assumptions about slave narratives frederick douglass was born in slavery as frederick augustus washington bailey near easton in talbot county maryland he was not sure of the exact year of his birth but he knew that it was 1817 or 1818 as a young boy he was sent to baltimore to be a house servant where he learned to read and write with the assistance of his master's wife in 1838 he escaped from slavery and went to New York City where he married Anna Murray, a free colored woman whom he had met in Baltimore. Soon thereafter he changed his name to Frederick Douglass. In 1841 he addressed a convention of the Massachusetts Anti-Slavery Society in Nantucket and so greatly impressed the group that they immediately employed him as an agent. He was such an impressive orator that numerous persons doubted if he had ever been a slave. So he wrote a narrative of the life of Frederick Douglass. During the Civil War he assisted in the recruiting of colored men for the 54th and 55th Massachusetts regiments and consistently argued for the emancipation of slaves. After the war he was active in securing and protecting the rights of the freedmen. In his later years at different times he was secretary of the Santo Domingo Commission, Marshall and Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia, and United States Minister to Haiti. His other autobiographical works are My Bondage and My Freedom and Life and Times of Frederick Douglass, published in 1855 and 1881 respectively. He died in 1895.
